An opportunity to purchase a two bedroom property of immense character and charm in the quintessential Cornish fishing village of Cadgwith.

Situated in a super tucked away position, this character property is presented in good order both internally and externally and offers cosy, comfortable accommodation. A real feature of this property are the mature gardens which cradle the property, there is a seating area at its boundary enjoying great views out across the village, the cove and out to sea, where one can watch the fishing day boats come and go landing their catch.

The accommodation in brief, from the ground floor, provides an entrance porch, lounge with wood burner, modern fitted kitchen, two bedrooms (one which has been set up as a garden room) and a shower room. On the first floor there is a generous loft/hobbies room with study area and views out over the village. The property also enjoys a parking space at the front.

Cadgwith has its origins in medieval times as a collection of fish cellars in a sheltered south east facing coastal valley with a shingle cove. Fishing subsidised local farmers' livelihoods. From the 16th Century the village became inhabited with fishing as the main occupation. Subsequently houses, lofts, capstan houses and cellars, constructed of local stone or cob walls and thatched or slated roofs, were built along the beach and up the sides of the valley leading to Cadgwith's characteristic Cornish fishing village appearance. In recent times a very small Anglican Church was built dedicated to St Mary.

Today Cadgwith functions as a small fishing cove with fishermen seen bringing in their haul and working on their boats. Also the Cove has an extremely popular public house which is home to the famous Cadgwith Singers, who are well known for their repertoire of traditional folk songs. For day to day needs the village of Ruan Minor is a short distance away and boasts an active community with many clubs, societies and organisations, primary school, local store/post office, Anglican Church, Methodist Chapel and doctor's surgery.

In the area is the National Trust's picturesque Kynance Cove, the village of The Lizard, which is mainland Britain's most Southerly Point and the stretches of golden sands at Kennack. Comprehensive schooling is available in the nearby village of Mullion, which lies approximately four miles distant, where there is a doctors' surgery, pharmacy and a good selection of shops.

The market town of Helston is approximately ten miles away and includes a good range of amenities having a sports centre with indoor swimming pool and a variety of national shops and supermarkets.
